Fears That the Lenox Hill Bank Is Hopelessly Wrecked.

Dr. Moses and Mr. Woolf Say They Have Discovered Forgery.

Mystery Behind President Jordan's

Mr. Lee Woolf, a stockholder and depositor in the Lenox Hill Bank, and also one of the Committee of nine in charge of the interests of the depositors, and Dr. Otto A. Moser are the discoverers, They say that on Tuesday they met !a

gentleman, whose name they refuse to divulge, and who told them that he had divulge, and who told them that he had no interest whatever in the bank other than as a stockholder or depositor, and never had. He is a reputable business with na wi man, and Mr. Woolf says that he has no reason to doubt his word.

This morning, however, Mr. Woolf obtained a list of the stockholders, and found this gentleman's name on the list as holding ten shares, and says that some one forged his name to the subscription.

President Conrad N. Jordan, of the Western National Bank is still making herollean efforts to the state of the state of the state of the state of the subscription.

herculean efforts to straighten out the tancle in the Lenox Hill Bank's affairs. In order to do this he must find some body who is willing to take care of the $310,500 in checks that are now not worth the paper they are written on, and in these days of tight money markets Mr. Jordan finds his task a difficult one.

There is also the other uncertain quan tity represented by $124,000 in the newly found certified checks issued by the gainst the bank.

ces, but the general belief is that that gentleman has succeeded in ball ancing up the books at the Equitable whose transactions were of a compare tively small volume, and making it a sort of tag to the Western National.

HOPELESSLY WRECKED. The Lenox Hill is believed to be a hope less wreck. Early in the week it was an-present programme.

Mr. Jerdan deciared that he had succeeded in getting hold of $16,000 of the $124,000 batch of checks, and that is had hopes of calling in $20,000 more of them to-day, but just how this stroke of financiaring in accomplished he declined to WESTERN NATIONAL'S BURDEN. Already there are rumors afloat in financial circles that the Western National Bank is more heavily involved in the recent operations of the wrecking 'syndicate' than was generally supposed.

A large proportion of the stock sold by Mr. Leiand was held by this bank as security for loans obtained by the mysterious Simmons, Claassen and others of the "syndicate." and it is said that a goodly share of the missing bonds of the Sixth National Bank also found their way to that depository. o that depository.

MYSTERY BESIND IT. The story is, that some good-sized blocks of Louitable and Lenox Hill Bank stock had been pledged at a downtown bank, protected by a very small margin on the market value of the securities at the time they were hypothecated.

MAY BE ANOTHER DISASTER. In order to secure this bank against a ruinous loss both of the State banks had to be fixed up without delay, and in the secomplishment of this end the stronger institution was compelled to assume still greater obligations.

Whether it will be able to stand up under the tremendous strain which has thus been put upon it is a question which downtown bankers are discussing with considerable anxiety.

considerable anxiety. MR. LELAND IN A HOLE.

WILL THEY DESTROY THE PROOFS? It is feared that, if all these incriminating checks are made good and the originals destroyed, there will be no evidence to hold those who engaged in the swindling operations to account. Judging from the present aspect of affairs, there is certainly no disposition being shown to proscute any of the alleged conspirators, except Chassedn and Feli, and even in their case the proceedings are halting.

LEYOT BILL MEETING TO-NIGHT.

this morning at the Lenox Hill Bank, the result of which was that he authorized the Committee representing the depositors to call a mass-meeting in Lenox Hall this evening and promised to be present and tall them all about what he was doing to help them.

He did not say anything about opening the bank to day or to morrow, but intimated that more time would be necessary in order to straighten out the bank's

PERHAPS A RECEIVED TO-MORROW. The Attorney-General will move for the appointment of a receiver to-morrow if the lank does not open, and that means a loss of almost everything to depositors.

The Committee of Depositors of the Lenox Hill held a meeting in Real-Estate Agent Auderson's office two deers from the bank. Their object was to discuss a plan by which the action of the Attorney-General might be stay doff for a few days longer, as Mr. Jordan gave them no encouragement to hope for an immediate resumption.

The mass of the depositors are very much disheartened over the continued delay, and most of them are coming to the belief that they have seen the last of cans. their money.

MONEY, NOT SPEECHES, WANTED.

CONFERRING WITH LELAND.

Mr. Jordan, after his flying visit to the Lenox Hill, posted off down to the Sixth National and spent the rest of the forenoon figuring with Mr. Leland.

He was so busy that he would see no one, and sent out word to an Evening World reporter by Cashier Colson that he had no statement whatever to make in regard to the Lenox Hill's finances. What he had to say he would tell the depositors at the meeting which he had called for to-night.

RUMORS ABOUT MR. JORDAN DENIED. The statement in a morning paper that the depositors of the Western National Bank were much dissatisfied with Presi-dent Jordan's management and his con-nection with the Classen gang of bank wreckers, and that a movement was on foot to compel his resignation, occasioned considerable comment in Wall street to-

He was on the way from his home at 408 Ninth avenue to his work in the hotel just before 6 o'clook this morning. When on Six'h avenue, between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth streets, a tall stranger suddenly confronted him.

It was dark yet, but by the gas-lamps Hubert saw that the man was nearly six feet high, were a long ulster reaching fairly to his feet and a derby hat. He grabbed the cook by the throat with one hand, and with the other pressed the muzzle of a revolver against his breast.

"Give me your money," he said.

In 1884 he was admitted to practice. About this time he connected himself with the Tammany Hall organization of the Seventh District, in which he has since been very prominent.

The first speech in the Hall was in support of a resolution passed at the death of Gen. Hancock. He introduced the resolution which declared the sympathy of that organization with the movement for Home Rule in Ireland. He has since spoken at different meetings in the city in behalf of the Irish cause, and is a popular campaign orator.
